

Striped Skunk

ACROSS

- 2 The striped skunk is about the size of this common house pet
- 4 If necessary a skunk can spray its musk up to this many consecutive times
- 6 Few predators will attack a skunk, but these large nocturnal birds of prey do
- 7 When seriously threatened the skunk can spray this with great accuracy up to 15 feet
- 11 Despite popular opinion skunks do not do this in winter
- 12 Skunks amble along in a slow, flat-footed gait at about this many mph
- 13 Typically the skunk goes through this many warnings before resorting to spraying

DOWN

- 1 Skunks are best known for this
- 3 The greatest threat to a skunk is fatalities due to these
- 4 This type of fast movement is interpreted as a threat to skunks
- 5 The skunk cannot do this motion
- 8 Skunks usually aim their musk when spraying at what vital target on its attacker
- 9 When a skunk does spray, gentle breezes can carry the scent more than this distance
- 10 The skunk always lives within two miles of this needed resource

Striped Skunk

Solution:

